The Dam City Newsletter

Kia Ora koutou katoa

As many in the community would now know, there has been a spate of burglaries in the town over the last two to three weeks. At least seven holiday homes were broken over the weekend of the 14th-16th September with alcohol being the primary target.

There may be other burglaries that we don't know about that will be found once the owners return to their holiday home

One of the places burgled on that weekend was the Mangakino Play Centre opposite the Area School. Not only did the thieves break in but they also vandalised the kids playground equipment.

As well as the Play Centre and holiday homes; the Mangakino Takeaway and Tom & Shortys were the target of an attempted break in. At Tom & Shortys they interfered with the power box. Two of the holiday homes had their power box interfered with and at one house the power was switched off resulting in food in the fridge defrosting

The good news is the offenders have been identified and most have spoken to. The disappointing news is they were local boys aged 10-14yrs. Their parents and care givers had trusted these boys to hang out with one another and instead they broke into some homes and stole property that didn't belong to them.

On this note if your child is found with property that you know doesn't belong to them or they give you an explanation that doesn't seem right; then start asking questions.

Mercury Energy recently had two public meetings to consult and seek advice on solutions to people fishing at Maraetai Dam. Mercury have no issue with anyone fishing so long as they do not endanger themselves or trespass or damage any of their property.

And as alluded to in a previous newsletter; people are cutting through or climbing over fences and in one case a portable cabin well within the grounds of Mercury Energy was broken into. Like all businesses Mercury Energy must comply with the Health & Safety laws hence the reason they are looking for a solution.

Harvesting of the bush around the Whakamaru Reserve is now over meaning the area will be open for camping etc. And yes the same District Council rules apply including no open fires and no quads and motorbikes.

The hunting season closed the end of August and re-opens in March 2019. As a reminder and in brief the Wild Animals Control Act authorises Police to

- seize any wild animal unlawfully taken
- seize all traps, snares, ammunition, firearms, vessels, horses, dogs, vehicles, and devices that are about to be used or are being used or have been used in contravention of this Act. This includes dog tracking collars

Any items seized are forfeited to the Crown.
